MR. FLAGLER IN CRITICAL CONDITION

SAID TO HAVE DIED HIS BROTHER IN HIS BEDROOM

ACCOUNT TO OWNER OF PLUM
IN DAY CITY BALDWIN AND TO HAVE DIED IN HIS BEDROOM.

The story is that Mr. Flagler, owner of the Florida East Coast railroad, just one of the largest enterprises in the United States, is in a critical condition at his home in Palm Beach, where he is recovering from a severe attack of influenza. It is said that he is now in a very critical condition, and that he is expected to die within a few days.

NEW PRODUCT TO REPLACE GASOLINE

ROCKEFELLER SAYS THIS WILL HELP KEEP DOWN THE PRICE

NEW YORK, March 5.—John D. Rockefeller, president of the Standard Oil Company, today announced that he had developed a new product to replace gasoline.

The new product, which is called "Kerosene," is said to be a better fuel than gasoline, and it is expected to help keep down the price of gasoline.

MR. FLAGLER IN CRITICAL CONDITION

SAID TO HAVE HAD HIS HIP
BROKEN IN FALL RECENTLY

ACCIDENT TO OWNER OF FLORIDA EAST COAST RAILROAD SAID TO HAVE HAPPENED AT WHITEHALL.

That Henry M. Flagler, owner of the Florida East Coast railroad and one of the heaviest stockholders in the Standard Oil company, is in a critical condition at Whitehall, his palatial winter home near Palm Beach, today, as the result of a fall last Sunday, in which, it is said, his hip was broken, is the report received today by the Daily News.

It is said every effort is being made to keep news of the accident from getting out to the public and the details are lacking.

DESTROYER IN HALF AND THE BOAT SINKS.

HAMBURG, March 5 — Sixty-six sailors were drowned early today when the German torpedo boat destroyer S178 was rammed and sunk off Helgoland island in the North sea by the cruiser Yorck, during night maneuvers.

The ships were moving without lights and the destroyer was cut in half and sank immediately. The cruiser was going at about half speed.

The Yorck's bow plates were smashed and the hull torn at the water line.

Two of the officers and 15 of the destroyer's men were saved. Commander Pies was drowned. Four sailors from the destroyer clung to some wreckage and were picked up.

MOST OF INAUGURATION VISITORS LEAVE CAPITAL AND PRICES DROP BACK WITHIN SOME REASON.

WASHINGTON, March 5 — Most of the inauguration visitors left the capital last night for their homes and prices today dropped back within reason.

President Wilson visited the executive offices early this morning, and, in spite of the early hour, he found a half hundred democratic patriots ready for the "pie" distribution.

Many women and children who took part in the parade and pageant yesterday are threatened with pneumonia today. Wearing the filiciest of garments they stood for several hours exposed to the chilling winds, and many caught serious colds.

Miss Helen Taft, it is reported today, lost her pet poodle, Caruso, yesterday, at about the same time her father lost his grip on the presidential chair. The dog was valued at $5,000.

President Wilson issued his first official statement this morning, when he said he would see no office seekers in person.

The president called a cabinet meeting at 9:15 o'clock this morning and all members of the new cabinet were present. There were only nine places at the cabinet table and William Wilson, the new secretary of labor, sat at one side. A larger table will be installed in the cabinet room. President Wilson will be compelled to secure a new "presidential chair," as the chair used by Mr. Taft has disappeared.

ALL TRAINS FROM THE SOUTH ARE HELD UP TODAY BY WRECK; SAID TO BE HEADON COLLISION

Because, it is alleged a freight wreck completely blocked the main line, no northbound trains on the Florida East Coast railroad passed through Daytona from late yesterday afternoon until 3 o'clock this afternoon, except the early morning express train, which starts from New Smyrna.

The wreck is said to have been near Titusville and to have been caused by a headon collision between two freight trains. It is not known just what time the collision occurred, but it was some time during the night, and early enough to hold up the early morning local train, No. 38, due here at 4:56 a. m.

No information could be obtained here until train No. 98, due here at 11:25 a. m., arrived about 3 o'clock this afternoon, and passengers coming in on this train gave out what details they had been able to learn.

Passengers arriving on No. 98 said the engine crews of the two freight trains jumped in time to save themselves and that no persons were badly hurt in the collision. No. 98 was sent from Titusville over the branch line to Enterprise, from Enterprise to Orange City Junction over the Atlantic Coast Line, and from Orange City Junction to New Smyrna over the branch line of the East Coast. Other northbound trains blocked by the wreck followed No. 98 over this route.

Dr. O. B. Babcock arrived Sunday from Springfield, Ill., and joined Mrs. Babcock, who has been here for a week or more at the Miller apartment house at the corner of Palmetto avenue and Cedar street. Dr. Babcock is here for rest and recreation and will probably remain for about a month. He is very much pleased with Daytona and says he had no idea there was such a beautiful place in Florida.

Dr. J. S. Latimer, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., who spends the winter seasons in this city, has had printed and is distributing a number of large cards containing the motto "Let us do all the good we can to everybody we can in every way we can as long as we can." These cards may now be seen in practically all the business places and public buildings in the city, keeping this kindly injunction constantly before the people.

HEALTH AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. E. J. JAMES

AVOID MIXING MEAT AND FRUIT.

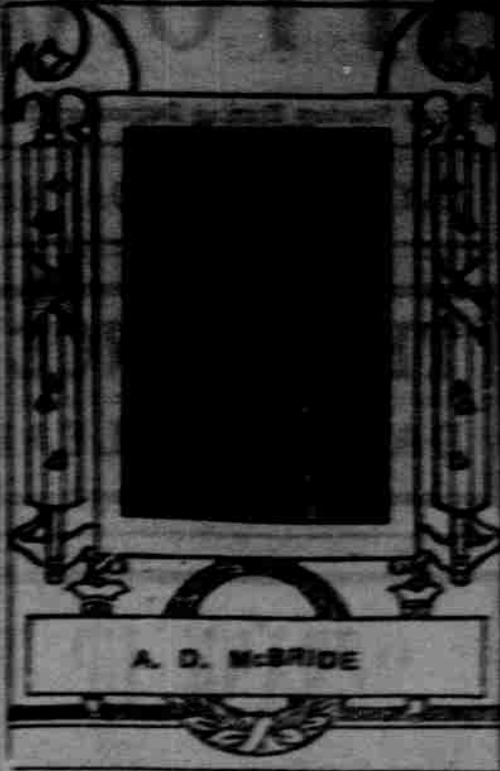

"A dinner made up of meat, fruit, and vegetables is most common result in decomposition in place of digestion, owing to the fact that fruit has its field of digestion in the small intestine and thus must wait on its release from the stomach till the meat has been assimilated (which the fruit does not require). Thus suspended in a temperature of 97 degrees and in an alkaline medium, the delay means decomposition and putrefaction, not only of the fruit, but, in cases where the digestion is weak, of the entire meal. To reap the benefit of fruit, we must enjoy it all by itself." So says Dr. A. E. Gibson, writing on the value of fruit diet, in Health Culture. This is no doubt a correct conclusion, and very important, to the well-to-do the sick, although it has not been emphasized before. This is but one of the many important aspects of the modern diet, which has been the central feature in these hints for more than two years. Not only is the digestion temporarily and continuously deranged by every one who eats the ordinary mixture of incompatible foods, but the entire fabric of nutrition which is the basis of life, health and efficiency, is broken down, and the worst forms of disease are engendered, finally, especially the most serious of all diseases, cancer.

Muscles and Brain. Experiments conducted by Messrs of Turin indicate that physical education and gymnastics serve not only for the development of the muscles, but for that of the brain as well. It is becoming evident, in the opinion of this authority, that as much time should be devoted to muscular exercise as to intellectual exercise and that children should begin reading and writing only after they are nine years old. Muscular fatigue exhibits phenomena identical with intellectual fatigue. Nerve cells show a tendency to rest every ten seconds. It is probable that only part of the brain is active at a time. a special election to give the people an opportunity to vote on the question of issuing $100,000 in bonds for the installation of a sewerage system, so that the prettiest winter resort in the world may keep in the front rank of progress.

Yours for improvement and progress. JOE OSBORNE. 77-3t

IMMUNITY FROM GERM DIS- EASES FOUND IN PERFECT NUTRITION.

It is the prevailing doctrine that most diseases, including consumption, rheumatism and diabetes, are caused by specific germs. Germs are the natural accompaniment of ferments, and while the products of fermentation will induce specific fermentations in dead matter, those vegetables and animal matters that are in a perfect state of nutrition and free from the accumulated waste matter which furnishes the foundation for fermentation are unfermentable, immune to disease. The humor theory has passed out of modern medical science, but it may well be revived as the proper explanation for the specific germ or specific ferment theory, and the basis of natural immunity will then be found to be in perfect nutrition, which implies perfect elimination, both dependent upon perfect physical and perfect mental condition, existing only in the ideal, but furnishing a true scientific foundation for scientific medicine, a condition which all admit has yet to be realized.

Quito's Water Porters.

Around a fountain in one of the principal squares of Quito, Ecuador, assemble every morning the city's aguadores.
These water porters differ from the less energetic ones of some South American cities in carrying their jars upon their backs instead of on the backs of mules. The earthen jar is deep, has a wide mouth and holds about fourty liters. The porter carries it on his shoulder fastened with leather straps.
He never detaches himself from his jar either to fill it or to transfer its contents to that of his customer. He turns his back to the fountain so that the jar comes under one of the jets of water, listens to the sound of the water in the jar, and his ear is so well trained that he always walks away at the exact moment when it is filled to the brim. Arriving at the house of a customer, he goes to the household jar, makes a deep bow and disappears behind a torrent of water. Foreigners can never receive without laughing the visit of their aguador, the respectful little man who bows to one behind a cataract of water.—Harper's.

Royal Roads.

People will discover at last that royal roads to anything can no more be laid in iron than they can in dust; that there are, in fact, no royal roads to anywhere worth going to; that if there were it would that instant cease to be worth going to—I mean so far as the things to be obtained are in any way estimable in terms of price, for there are two classes of precious things in the world—those that God gives us for nothing—sun, air and life, both mortal life and immortal, and the secondarily precious things which he gives us for a price. These secondarily precious things, worldly wine and milk, can only be bought for definite money. They never can be cheapened.
No cheating nor bargaining will ever get a single thing out of nature's establishment at half price. Do we want to be strong? We must work.
To be hungry? We must starve. To be happy? We must be kind. To be wise?
We must look and think.—Ruskin.

Curious Christian Names.

British Guiana is a land of quaint Christian names. The Rev. L. Crookall quotes from the baptismal register of the church in which he ministered to a congregation of all the colors Nannie Bellona, Queen Elizabeth, Prince Albert, John Pantaloon and Frank Locust. "One negro whose child he christened was called Whisky Emmanuel.
Another black man brought his child and when the minister asked the name replied, "Seriatim ad Valorem." Another gave a puzzling answer which sounded like "Ax parson" and when requested to explain said: "Well, parson, my mind gie me to go troo de New Testament. I have had four boys.
One was called Matthew, another Mark, another Luke and another John, and this is Ax, parson."

H. T. JOHNSON OF NEW YORK PASSES AWAY HERE TODAY

DEATH CLAIMS WELL KNOWN WINTER VISITOR WHO HAS BEEN COMING TO DAYTONA
FOR SEVERAL YEARS.

Harry T. Johnson, head of the Manhattan Electrical company, 17 Park Place, New York City, one of well known winter visitors to Daytona, died about 10:30 o'clock this forenoon of peripneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson have been coming to Daytona for the winter seasons for several years, making their winter home at the Desland and have made many friends here among the regular winter visitors and local residents.

Mr. Johnson, who was 53 years of age, has not been in good health for some time. When his condition became serious recently Dr. N. L. Wilson, a specialist, was called here from Elizabeth, N. J., to attend him, and remained with him until the time of his death.

The body will be taken to Scio,
New York, for interment, starting tomorrow morning.

MEXICO CITY, March 5 — The Mexican regular army has been increased to 62,000 and it is hoped the number of men can be brought up to 90,000. Vigorous efforts are being made to crush out the rebellion all over the country.

Ambassador Wilson is lending valuable aid to the provisional government. It is reported today that if the new administration in the United States recalls the ambassador he will be offered the position of special advisor to the Mexican government.

WORLD'S FAIR PROPOSAL TO BE OPPOSED

VARIOUS STATES OBJECT TO PAYING ALL THE EXPENSES

PLAN IS TO TAKE THE UNITED STATES OUT OF SHOW BUSI-NESS, FINANCIALLY, FOR ALL TIME TO COME.

WASHINGTON, March 5 — That the proposal now before congress to establish in Washington a permanent "World's fair" to exploit the resources of the United States, will not materialize without much opposition from the various states, already is evidenced in rumblings reaching the national capital.

Discussion of the project to establish a permanent display here of the wealth and resources of the country has been had at more or less frequent intervals for a long time. But it never got beyond the stage of discussion until recently when a house committee approved a resolution to create a commission to inquire into the merits of the project.
This official action would seem to lift the plan out of the realm of speculation and give it real importance.

The resolution as approved by the committee gives the commission power to report on the expediency of establishing a "world's fair," as it is proposed to be called. The exposition is to be established and maintained by the 48 states of the Union at their own expense, the federal government not to contribute anything to the project except a site for the buildings in Washington.

It is this lack of provision for federal support in the resolution that is causing the talk of opposition to the project from the states. It has been suggested in this connection, therefore, that the commission of inquiry be instructed to obtain views of the proper authorities as to the willingness and likelihood of their respective states to adopt the plan as outlined in the resolution passed by the house committee.

The proposed title of "world's fair" is also attacked by the opponents of the plan, as it is argued, to call an exclusively national exposition a "world's fair" would be an abuse of terms, to say the least, and as the bill dispenses with the usual federal aid for a government exhibit, it is held to be doubtful whether the proposed display could properly be called a "national" exposition.

Persons here who have studied the measure as it is today, assert that this in brief is what the report on the measure argues for when it proposes that the Washington exhibit should do away with the holding of great expositions at different points in the United States, such as have marked the past. This, it is pointed out, is a clever plan on the part of the framers of the resolution, to take the United States government out of the show business altogether, in a financial sense, and impose on the states the burden of giving a continuous performance at their own expense. This would result in a great saving to Uncle Sam as it would forestall any attempts to induce congress to open the doors of the federal treasury and pass out the government's millions to help defray the cost of an exhibit or display to mark some event in history or the completion of a great feat of engineering.

Esthetic Sense.
Where the esthetic sense is deep enough, it is an unconscious moral sense and keeps men pure, and the moral sense in its perfection becomes the esthetic.—Hegel.

His Almost Endless Job.
A small boy watched his mamma taking ashes out of a stove, and said in a thoughtful manner: "Mamma, I would think the devil would get so tired taking up his ashes."

POSTMASTERS' CONVENTION IS APPROACHING

STATE GATHERING WILL BE HELD AT EUSTIS THIS MONTH

AN INTERESTING FEATURE WILL BE AN EXPERIENCE MEETING
ON THE SUBJECT OF PARCEL POST.

Postmaster W. C. Smith of this city is planning to attend the sixth annual meeting of the Florida Association of Postmasters, which will be held March 20, 21 and 22 at Eustis. Postmaster W. A. Allen of DeLand is president of the association and Mrs. Grace Berry Wise of Jacksonville is secretary.

At this time the State League of Postmasters, Postmaster Frank Collins, of Winter Park, president, will meet with the Florida Association of Postmasters, the membership of the league consisting of the postmasters of the fourth class postoffices.

Miss Mary B. Bishop, postmistress of Eustis, will be hostess of the postmasters who will attend the meeting and it is expected that there will be a large number in attendance at the meeting, the city of Eustis having promised a mighty good time to all who will attend the sessions.
The usual subjects will come up for consideration and it is expected that among the new work to be taken up and considered, and which will probably be a feature of this meeting, will be the experience meeting which will be held on parcel post, which will be a topic of troubles and strange experiences as well as achievements.

Mrs. Wise states that the department at Washington, has promised to have a number of representatives present who will meet with the postmasters of the state. These officials will be in Georgia at the postmasters' meeting to be held there March 18-21, and will come on direct to Eustis.

The Florida meetings have always been attended by representatives from this department, this being the sixth annual meeting. The first meeting was held in Tampa, after the association was organized. The meetings following were held in Jacksonville, Ocala, St. Petersburg and Daytona.

PORK CHOP.

Pork chop contains two percent, less protein than beef steak, but 12 per cent, more heat and energy, its total fuel value being 1,580 as compared with beef steak, 1,130 calories per pound, while toast has 1,420 calories per pound, granulated sugar 1,860, bacon 3,030. Pork requires about one-fifth more energy to digest than beef and perhaps five times as much as sugar. A given amount of heat and energy costs about nine times as much in pork as in corn, 16 times as much in beef and 130 times as much in oysters. A pound of protein would cost in wheat three cents, pork 62 cents, beef round 77 cents, sirloin steak $1.53. Pork is by common consent of all those who object to the use of flesh as food, held to be the most objectionable.

THE SUN IS AGAIN REPEATED BY PALATKA BOYS.
The R. E. A. baseball team was today beaten at Palatka last night. The game was played on the Palatka Athletic Club's field and was witnessed by a small crowd. The outstanding feature from the Daytona point of view was the starting work of Curtis Gardner at forward, who scored all of the local high points. Whitney Kach, center, also played a good game for the locals. For Palatka Don Mann and Lew Barstow starred.

The lineup of the teams follows: Palatka—Don Mann, center; Barstow and Crutchfield, forwards; Browning, Kersey and Roberts, guards. Daytona—Kach, center; Gardner and Ballough, forwards; Drake and Hahn, guards.

Summary: Field goals—Barstow, 11; Mann, 16; Crutchfield, 8; Browning, 6; Kersey, 3; Roberts, 2; Gardner, 1. Field goals—Gardner, 4; Mann, 2.

Referee, Tim Merrill; scorekeeper, Fred Lecker; timekeeper, Alma Mann.

The local team returned on the 1:15 o'clock train this morning and although defeated all state they enjoyed the trip.

By the Aid of the Wonderful Sun Valve
It Lights the Acetylene Beacons as it Sets at Night and Extinguishes Them as it Rises in the Morning.

The sun is the most trustworthy of lighthouse keepers. The sun or the heat from it lights many hundreds of beacons along our coasts and waterways evening after evening and extinguishes them punctually every morning. They are guides on land and sea that are never touched by human hands from one month's end to another. The way in which the United States government, through its lighthouse board, has utilized the services of the sun and made that great lamp of heaven a faithful and unerring servant is most interesting.

The discovery of acetylene gas was the first step toward retiring the lonely keepers of the little lights in far-off places. Modern magic was not slow in recognizing the fact that by the application of certain well-known scientific principles the lighting of the great chains of beacons that girdle the coasts of the two seas and the Gulf and cover the great lakes and every navigable stream in our huge country could be much simplified.

The United States did not become interested in the acetylene light and its automatically generating gas buoy until about the year 1906 and did not adopt it until 1908. Then the engineers of the lighthouse board devised some wonderful improvements, among them the utilization of the sun.

The self-lighting and self-extinguishing acetylene beacon is a very simple thing, but it depends almost entirely on the "sun valve," which is one of the most wonderful but least complex of the achievements of modern science.

In the first place, the source of light for these lone beacons is dissolved acetylene, which is stored under pressure in steel cylinders. One of these cylinders can be charged with enough gas to last a small beacon three years. Usually, however, in the case of floating buoys, a six months' supply is all that is necessary, as such buoys are overhauled and painted twice a year. Knowing the size of the flame and its hourly consumption of gas, it is very easy to compute how long a cylindrical will last and how often it will need to be visited. That is all the care the light will need. The sun valve does the rest.

The scientific principle upon which the sun valve depends is that light waves become transformed in different degrees, according to the nature of the intercepting body. Sunlight upon dark surfaces is converted into heat, and heat produces expansion. This expansion is especially perceptible in certain metals.

In a carefully sealed and substantially mounted glass jar nearly a foot high and about one-fourth that in diameter a thick black rod is placed perpendicularly through the center. It is supported by three slender rods of highly polished copper. The big black rod is of copper also and is coated with lampblack to make it absorb light to the greatest possible degree. The supporting rods reflect light without absorbing it and do not expand or contract to the same extent as the largest rod.

The thick black piece of copper in the center of the jar is extremely sensitive to light and heat. As the sun appears and the atmosphere grows warmer in the morning this rod lengthens. It pushes down into the metal chamber in which the glass jar rests and touches the end of a lever. It presses down on this lever, which is controlled by a spring and cuts off the flow of the gas to the lamp.

When the sun disappears from view in the evening and the temperature of the air falls the process is reversed. The rod contracts and releases its pressure on the lever, allowing the gas to flow upward to the lamp. The gas is ignited by a little pilot flame that is never extinguished. Thus the beacon is lighted at the proper time and is put out when it is no longer needed, although along desolate coasts it may never gladden the human eye for months at a time.

The engineers of the lighthouse board say that the precision of this device is almost incredible. It can be used with equal certainty in equatorial heat and in polar cold, for it responds with the utmost accuracy to small variations in temperature. It is used on lonely islands in the Pacific. There are nearly a hundred of these sun valve beacons in Alaska. In summer they are aids to navigation, and in winter they guide the travelers on dog sledges over the frozen wastes.—Harper's Weekly.

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS
By DR. T. J. ALLEN

TO OVERCOME HABIT OF OVEREATING.

How much gasoline is needed to run an automobile? It is no more difficult to answer this than the question, how much shall I eat? Few people have a normal appetite, most of us eat too much, and when we come to realize the injury done, usually by serious injury to health, wish to be told how much to eat as well as what. Indiscriminate mixing and unnatural seasoning of foods destroy the normal appetite, so that the best way to restore it is to gradually discontinue these habits. Dr. B. W. Child writes me that he has found by testing the practice with patients that the habit of overeating is more easily controlled by eating one or two articles of food at a meal than in any other way, the method having proved very successful in cases of excessive appetite. However, such a change must be made gradually.

STATE HAPPENINGS

From Feb. Florida Daily Mail

Because he had been unsuccessful in love, Manuel Garcia, aged 25, a nephew of Celestino Vega, the cigar manufacturer at Tampa, chose to snuff out his own life in his room at a boarding house, 2199 Nebraska avenue. He fired two shots, one of which aimed at his heart, failed to bring death. The other, which he sent crashing through his brain ended his life immediately.

E. W. Armentrout, superintendent of the planing mill department of the Cypress lumber company's plant at Apalachicola, fell from a scaffold around one of the smokestacks, about 50 feet, and was seriously injured Monday. He will probably not survive.

In a bare-handed fight with a porpoise at sea at Palm Beach, Peter H. Rogers, a New York architect, and Kenneth Howard, private secretary to Allen Ryan, believe they had a narrow escape from being devoured, though no other instance is known here of porpoises having attacked swimmers. Rogers had the shift of his bathing suit torn nearly off and from the animal's fins received on the back and legs several gashes over a foot long that required the attention of a physician. He is not seriously hurt. Howard was untouched and thinks his frantic yelling frightened the porpoises away. He is the man who a week ago rescued Frank Coffyn when he fell into the ocean with his aeroplane.

The body of an unknown white man was found on Anastasia island below South beach, St. Augustine, late Saturday evening by E. P. de Medicis and Thomas Goodwin who were hunting rabbits on the island. Investigation of the case has proved it to be one of suicide. The man had made careful preparations for his rash act. After forcing his way into the thick brush he took off his coat and lying flat on his back had folded his coat neatly over his breast. Then taking a heavy caliber pistol he placed the barrel close to his temple and fired, the bullet making a gaping wound through the skull and brain. Death was evidently instantaneous and from the appearance of the body the suicide had evidently taken his life nearly two weeks ago.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

Experts Think Yamada Is Coming Billiard Champion.

Maurice Daly, the veteran billiard player, regards Koji Yamada, the Jap, as a candidate for championship honors. In talking about Yamada recently Daly said: "He has a lot to learn, but will get a lot from observation and experience. At present he depends on his execution and lacks system. When he becomes more methodical he will be the player most likely to have a chance to beat Willie Hoppe for the championship. His temperament seems to be an ideal one for a billiard player. If he is susceptible of any emotion his immobile countenance does not betray it. Apparently all opponents look alike to him."

George Slosson's opinion of the Japanese expert is: "Wait until he gets the knack of nursing and nobody will have any advantage over him."

Honus Wagner Fooled by Fake Ball.

"Jake Beckley was one of the few players who ever made me look like a sucker," said young Honus Wagner the other day. "It happened in Louisville years ago, and Tim Hurst was umpiring. I was on first base and saw Jake hide the ball under his arm. I told him several times I was wise to such bush league stuff, but Jake pretended he did not hear. Finally when Hurst was not looking I grabbed the ball from under Jake's right arm and threw it into right field. Then I started for second base, only to have the pitcher throw another ball to the second baseman, and I was run down between the bases. I felt so cheap I could have dropped clean through to China. Beckley had been holding a dummy ball."

Ritchie Will Raise Weight Limit.

Willie Ritchie, the lightweight champion, will not insist on the weight being made at the ringside. While the new champion can make 133 pounds he will permit his opponent to make that poundage from three to five hours before the men are asked to begin operations in the ring. The clubs, managers and newspaper men are asked for this change, and he is perfectly willing to make this concession.

Will Play Water Soccer.

The ax has finally fallen upon American water polo. The everlasting squabbles and fights of the past few years gradually brought it into disrepute, and the Amateur Athletic union has dropped it and taken up water soccer instead; hence the rules of the International Federation of Swimmers will hereafter obtain.

Hopes to Play a British Rugby Team.

California is hopeful that a combined Rugby football team from the universities of Oxford and Cambridge of England will pay them a visit in 1919. The Australian team now playing in California wants the English college boys to go to Australia for a tour and will try to include California in the trip.

Everard P. Butler of the Argonaut Rowing club of Toronto, who represented Canada in the single sculling events at the Olympic regatta at Stockholm, has received a handsome diploma of merit and a medal from the Swedish Olympic committee.

Betting Retards Britons.

Charles E. Holway, the American professional sprinter, who has competed in various countries, declares if there was not so much betting in England there would be better athletes in that country.

To Number Basketball Players.

College basketball players will wear big numbers on their backs in future for the purpose of identification. This innovation was decided upon at the meeting of officials in New York recently.

A. A. U. Has 17,508 Members.

The National Amateur Athletic union has 17,508 registered athletes throughout the United States, also 440 clubs enrolled.

They Never Sleep.

It is a strange fact that African negroes; neither do they doze, nor do they sleep, although domiciled in other parts of the world.

Cadiz.

During the Napoleonic wars Cadiz was the only town in Spain which successfully resisted the French invaders, and when at last a parliament was constituted in 1812 it assembled in that town, where it was proclaimed constitutional, thus ending the period of absolute rule.

An Appalling Accident.

The most appalling accident in history was the fall of a Roman amphitheater in the time of Tiberius. Fifty thousand people were crushed.

Melon Seeds as Food.

The Chinese have melons which are grown almost entirely for their seeds, which are to be found on almost every table. The Chinese do not consider dinners, festivals or other ceremonies complete without a liberal supply of them.

Magpies.

In Italy, in Norway and in France magpies are so familiar with human beings that they build their nests close to the roadside and not far from the ground.

Voters of Frankfurt.

Voters of Frankfurt, Germany, must be Prussian subjects, twenty-four years of age and must have resided in Frankfurt one year, paid their taxes and received no assistance from public charity funds and must possess one of the following property qualifications: Own a dwelling within the city limits, conduct a regular trade with at least two assistants or have an annual income of 1,200 marks ($285.60).

Musical Frogs.

The tree frogs of South America sing as musically as birds.

Chilled Candles.

It is always annoying when using candles at dinner to have them drip, making the candlestick look unattractive, besides spoiling the embroidered cloth beneath. If the candles are put in the icebox (close to the ice) for about twenty minutes before lighting they will give no trouble.

Great Lakes' Feeders.

The streams draining into the Great Lakes represent 14,000,000 horsepower.

The First Book Catalogue.

The first book catalogue was issued in 1564 in Augsburg, Germany, by one George Willer. It was a quarto of nineteen pages and recorded the titles of 256 books arranged in classes. Hand lists or posters were printed as early as 1469 by Jonathan Mentel (or Mentelin) of Strassburg, who printed the first edition of the Bible in 1465 or 1466. The first catalogue in England was printed in 1595 by John Windet for Andrew Mansell, a bookseller.

Absolute Zero.

Absolute zero, the point at which there is no heat whatever, has been fixed by scientists at 273 degrees below zero C., or about 530 degrees below zero F.

A Curious Pistol.

Among the curiosities for which patents were granted in the early life of the firearm was a "revolving pistol," its inventor, an Englishman, making claim, among other things, that "the mechanism permits the use of square bullets against the Turk and round bullets against Christians."

Preparing Cauliflower.

Always put a cauliflower in plain water so as to draw out any insects. If salt is placed in the water it kills the insects and they are left in the vegetable.

Life In Fire and Ice.

The human organism is able to bear degrees of heat and of cold that are astonishing. Sir George Nares and those who accompanied him on his arctic travels endured during forty-eight hours a temperature of 79 degrees below zero. Fish, reptiles and insects may be frozen without evincing any signs of distress, provided that the change be effected gradually, and subsequently return to their normal existence without evincing any ill effects.

Only a Matter of Time.

The late John M. Palmer was one of the wits of public life. When he retired from the senate he was not discouraged, but said, "I come into fashion about every ten years in Illinois."

Pens With a History.

At the prison of St. Paul's, at Lyons, there is a curious collection of pens. They are the pens with which the executioners have signed the regulation receipts for the prisoners handed over to them to be guillotined. At each execution a fresh pen is used for the purpose and the ink is left to dry upon it.

Twins.

Twins are extremely rare among Indians and aboriginal peoples generally.

Garlic and Onions.

In the middle ages the detestation in which garlic was held was often strongly displayed. At the court of Alphonse, king of Castile, it was a very serious offense to eat it. The king in 1368 instituted an order of knighthood called the Ordre de la Bande, the members of which were not permitted to consume either garlic or onions under pain of being excluded from the court for a month.

MOVING PICTURE FILM TO BE EXHIBITED HERE.

A moving picture film will soon be shown in this city that will be of great practical interest and educational value to the public generally and especially to the school children of Daytona and adjacent towns. The film consists of 1,000 feet or more of pictures illustrating and exploiting oral or mouth hygiene in all its varied phases.

This wonderful and instructive picture was made in Cleveland, Ohio, under the auspices of the National Mouth Hygiene association and by leading actors and actresses, motion picture people of Indianapolis and New York. The film was made in the playground of the Marion school on Monday and Tuesday, the 26th and 27th of last August. The school authorities of Cleveland tendered the playground especially for making these instructive pictures.

The presentation of these pictures here will offer an opportunity to everyone to see something which should be of general interest. The time and place of the exhibition will be made later in the Daily News.

GOOD HEALTH THE SECRET OF BEAUTY.

Mrs. Langtry, asked for her "secret" of beauty, said: "The fact that I believe in the power of mind over matter does not blind me to the fact that the foundation of the whole secret of beauty is good health. A sick woman cannot be beautiful. Work, sunshine, exercise, nourishing food, fresh air and cheerfulness are my recipe for beauty."

This prescription is correct in every particular. The food should be plain, avoiding waste of vitality in digestion and elimination; vivacity is inconsistent with working overtime in digestion. White bread, pie, pickles, cakes, tea, coffee, pork and all stimulants should be avoided. Coarse wheat, rye and corn bread and nuts, olives and figs should form the staple of the diet.

Prunes with olive oil or peanut oil have a very important use in preserving the complexion, by preventing constipation with its attendant auto-intoxication and bilious headache that often leads to nervous breakdown.

Buttermilk is most helpful as an antidote to sallow skin and pimples. A glass may be taken on retiring.

Superscience. Modern science is that practical knowledge of truth that urges us to feel an oyster's pulse and look at its tongue before we eat it.

Better a Smile Than a Frown. The saint who smiles does a great deal more good in the world than the saint with a long face.

More Profitable. After all, it seems to be more profitable to write good stories than to write hair-raising mining literature.—Boston Advertiser.
